

Just Plain Fun

There was plenty of time for fun after the work day ended. The team took a horse drawn cart ride around the island, they had a hot dog and marshmallow cookout, and there was always time to make new friends.

The most adventurous activity was the Lampour Desert camp out. The team spent one night in desert tents and rode in a camel caravan through the dunes.

Just the trip to the dunes alone was an adventure, dodging trees along the beach road and digging out stuck trucks.

The Saint-Louis church was greatly blessed by the team's willingness to take part in the Sunday morning services in spite of the language barrier.

Thank you to each team member for your willingness to work in Senegal.

Thank you for your prayers during these hot summer months.
